The Top 15 Cities in the United States

BY TAMMI CHENG SEPTEMBER 06, 2021

This year's World's Best Awards survey was open for voting January 11 through May 10, 2021, as destinations around the world were lifting COVID-19 restrictions. Survey rules have always allowed readers to reflect on their travel experiences over a three-year period. We hope that this year's honorees will inspire your own travels as you get back out and about.

As travelers sought outlets for their wanderlust over the past year, they turned to U.S. destinations for adventure and relaxation. Readers voted for cities that are perhaps further than it's generally safe to travel from cities continue to dazzle hearts of 7+ readers, thanks to the wonderful mix of warm hospitality, approachable size, excellent food, and striking architecture.

Every year for our World's Best Awards survey, T+L asks readers to weigh in on travel experiences around the globe — to share their opinions on the top cities, islands, cruise ships, spas, airlines, and more. Readers voted cities on their sights and landmarks, culture, cuisine, friendliness, shopping, and overall value.

Enchanting Savannah, Georgia (No. 8); Williamsburg, Virginia, with its historic district (No. 9); free-spirited and musical Nashville (No. 11); and Asheville, North Carolina (No. 15), gateway to the Blue Ridge Mountains, were all among this year's winners. "Savannah is the jewel of the South," one reader declared of the Georgia coastal destination with the "Bustling and upcoming food scene, full of history and culture," another noted, citing interesting attractions like the American Prohibition Museum.

Several readers found themselves drawn to Asheville's spectacular highlands. "It's the mountains around Asheville that really make this city special," Another reader noted, "Asheville's proximity to the Blue Ridge Parkway is one of its best features." The Southern city's food and beer scene was also high on readers' lists. And how could it not be, with destination-worthy spots like Cúrate, the tapas bar from Katie Button, and Button Hall Barbecue, known for its pulled pork plates and catfish?

New York, with its knack for reinventing itself — even in the face of adversity as it's been doing over the past year and a half — took the No. 1 spot. "There is no city more into you rich. Love the bookstores and vintage shops in the Village," shared one reader. "When I arrive in New York, I feel exhilarated," wrote another reader. "Endless places to explore, wonderful little local restaurants, and then there are the theaters," a third commented.

Honolulu came in at No. 10. One reader praised its "great weather, great beaches, many historical sites, and some of the best food." Another encouraged fellow travelers to venture beyond the primary tourist area. "There are great neighborhoods, farmers' markets, and out-of-the-way restaurants worth seeking out."

As many travelers look for outdoor attractions, Chicago's open-air venues and vibe were on the top of T+L readers' lists. Several recommended the Chicago River architecture boat tour, while another wrote, "Don't miss Grant Park Symphony Orchestra under the stars in Millennium Park."

Ultimately though, Charleston prevailed among T+L readers, earning the No. 1 spot for the second year in a row. It's clear that the city still has the positive charm that's fan of the best cities in the United States, as well as the complete list of favorites.

With its charming architecture and powerhouse culinary scene, Charleston has reigned as T+L readers' favorite U.S. city for an impressive nine years running. "How could you not love those cobblestoned streets? The beautiful, colorful homes? The delicious food? The rich history?" asked one Charleston fan reader. "Charleston is such a historic treasure with beauty at every corner. Also heaven for foodies. King Street has excellent shops, bars, and restaurants and is good for nightlife! But there's also plenty of all-ages appeal. "There is an abundance of activities to choose from for couples' families', and friends' itineraries," wrote one reader who named the city as one of the most hospitable places I have visited."
